

Commercial Indoor Audits

Northern Water has expanded its Water Efficiency Program offerings to include no-cost indoor water-use audits for commercial properties, thanks to a partnership with the Brendle Group. Brendle Group assesses each property and evaluates existing water-use practices to identify water-saving opportunities. These services are designed to help commercial property managers determine the best solutions to cost-effectively reduce water use, while maintaining or improving the quality of facilities. All audits are free and include:

Initial Water Use Survey

- Analysis of past water usage and property details
- Review of relevant incentives and rebates

Site Walkthrough

- Understand how water is being utilized
- Identify opportunities for reducing water use
- Optional installation of faucet aerators, high-efficiency showerheads and pre-rinse spray valves where appropriate

Post Audit Report

- Summary of recommendations and opportunities
- Analysis of potential payback for each opportunity
- List of qualifying incentives and rebates
- Optional meeting to discuss findings and strategies

While open to any commercial customers, the audit is best suited for:
